13	Program Evaluation / Quality Improvement	There are currently no fidelity measures available for peer support.	DBHDID should monitor peer support services based on these peer support services standards.	In the SAMHSA toolkit for Consumer Operated Services there is a fidelity measure called the FACIT (Fidelity Assessment Common Ingredients Tool) which has a section of Peer Support, consisting of 2 questions about services. However, these questions are very specific to services being offered through a Consumer Operated Service. There is also an outcome measure called POP (Peer Outcome Protocol), but again these measures are very specifically related to Consumer Operated Services.
14	Program Principles	Peer Support Services are guided by the Principles of	DBHDID also recognized the	Behavioral Health Recovery is
